

Girl Scouts' Cookie Sale Underway

The most appealing salesman in the world is making an appearance in this community as Girl Scouts in their red and green uniforms or brown dresses and white blouses will be taking orders for these delicious Girl Scout cookies through Jan. 25.

A new variety—peppermint, a creamy peanut and chocolate chip cookie—will be available along with the four other traditional flavors of mint, raspberry, lemon and butter. All these cookies are still the same.

Wonder what happens to Girl Scout cookie "dough," or the profit from the annual sale? The benefits are divided between the troops and council. A troop makes a bonus of $1 for every box it sells. The bonus often is used for the special "Hootie Campout," a troop camping event at Camp High Point, or for a cook-out, trip, day camping or special event. The council profit is usually used for the maintenance and repair of camp equipment and facilities. Last year the dining hall at Camp High Point near Mesa, Arkansas, was enlarged and a new refrigerator, freezer and ice-making machine were purchased from the cookie sale profits. Day camp equipment and the troop camping equipment at the council's four check-out centers are made possible because of the annual cookie sale.

Individual Girl Scouts and troops will be competing for the incentive awards. Every girl selling over 75 boxes receives an invitation to an awards event to honor the top salesmen. The top individual salesmen are awarded the traditional cookie cup on which her name is inscribed on a plaque bearing the names of past winners and which she keeps until the next annual sale.

Girls selling 400 boxes receive the complete camp fee and a silver charm. Those selling 300 are awarded half the camp fee. Sellers of 125 boxes are awarded $5.00 toward the camp fee and sellers of 200 boxes $10.00 toward it.

Mrs. A.A. Melde is the 1970 Condon Girl Scout Council Cookie Chairwoman. Her committee consists of Mrs. Bobby R. Revels, Mrs. Pete F. Kaburick and Mrs. Denver Randelman, all of Texarkana. The cookie sale in Hope is being coordinated by Mrs. David Peters.

top aide to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., was interviewed in his spacious, birch-paneled office in the East Wing of the White House—a short, carpeted walk from the Oval Office occupied by the President.

His title is special counsel to the President. But although he's a lawyer, he said the "special means special for politics."

Speaking of this November's congressional races, Dent said of Agnew: "The vice president will be the prime leader in support of Republican candidates across the country this year. There is no question about that."

Referring to Agnew's recent standing in a nationwide Gallup poll, Dent went on, "Agnew is the third most-admired man in the country right now"—behind Nixon and evangelist Billy Graham. "The support the vice president has picked up is solid and deep. He'll be used in all parts of the country."

As for Nixon, said Dent, "The President has not determined how active a role he'll take in campaigns this year. He'll decide what he should do as he gets closer to the November elections."

Fight for Control of L.R. Bank

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The struggle for control of Union National Bank of Little Rock erupted Thursday in a battle on paper over which side is to blame for a $10 million decline in the bank's deposits.

One side said the amount of decline actually was $18 million.

The present bank management, headed by J. H. Bowen, president, said in a letter to stockholders that the bank lost $10 million in deposits of correspondent banks and 31 correspondent bank accounts during the 16-month tenure of the previous management.

That previous management was headed by Donald P. Couch and Harlan Lane, who were ousted from office by the current management in a meeting of the bank's board of directors last Oct. 31.

Couch, in a prepared statement, called the letters to stockholders "a frantic last ditch effort to gain control" of the bank.

He had announced Wednesday night that he had obtained enough proxy support to control the meeting of the bank's stockholders next Wednesday and would become the bank's president and chief executive officer.

Couch put his accusations into another letter to stockholders, saying the letter sent by the present bank management is one of "misstatements and omissions," and that it "clearly illustrates their lack of good faith."

The present management cited nine transactions by the Couch-Lane management and said that they were responsible for the drop in correspondent deposits and accounts.

Bowen signed the letter, as did Douglas F. Graves, vice president, and 10 directors.

Couch, who was the bank's president before he was ousted, said that since he was removed from office the bank's deposit losses have been "over $18 million."

He said the drop was from $122,868,000 on Oct. 31, 1969, to $104,334,000 last Monday.

In his statement Wednesday night, Couch blamed current management policies and inactivity for the losses.

He said the bank had been the second-largest bank in the state, but had fallen to third place.

The proxy support pledged to him, Couch said, is more than 100,000 votes, enough to give him a total strength sufficient to elect an 11-member slate of directors he has offered and which is pledged to support him.

The present management said in its letter that Couch and Lane made a $1 million loan from the bank and that the transaction included a fee of $125,000 to LACO, Inc.

Lane is the principal stockholder and board chairman of LACO Inc. Couch resigned Wednesday as president of the firm.

The letter of the present management said that Lane did not reveal that the fee was going to LACO and when subsequently questioned about it he defended the plan on grounds that LACO had guaranteed payment of the loan and was therefore entitled to the fee.

The present management said that all the directors at that meeting, except Lane or Couch, voted to disapprove the loan.

Israeli Bombs Fall Near Cairo

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes bombed Egyptian military camps near Cairo again today while Israeli commandos gathered booty on a small Egyptian island they captured Thursday.

The planes hit camps near the industrial city of Helwan, south of Cairo, and at Hucksstep, 12 miles east of the capital. It was the fifth penetration of the Nile Valley in less than three weeks and the second attack on the Helwan and Hucksstep areas in six days.

A spokesman said the planes attacked military targets along the northern sector of the Suez Canal on their way home, and all returned safely.

The Israeli commandos on the captive islet of Shadwan, at the mouth of the Gulf of Suez, apparently were dismantling the radar station there to take it back to Israel when they abandoned the island. An Israeli spokesman said "one or two" Egyptian planes dropped a few bombs on the southern end of the island during the night, but there was no damage or casualties.

Israeli spokesmen said the commandos killed as many as 60 Egyptians when they landed Thursday, including about 40 crewmen of two torpedo boats which were sunk. Three Israelis were killed and six were wounded, a spokesman said. The Israelis said they also captured 41 Egyptians and flew them to Israel.

Two boats also tried to approach the island during the night, but the spokesman said Israeli fire drove them off. Later one Egyptian from one of the boats was captured and four others were found dead.

Mopping up actions by the Israeli troops brought the Egyptian casualty toll on the island to 70 soldiers killed and 62 captured, the Israeli command said. The prisoners were taken to Israeli territory. The command said Israeli casualties were three killed and six wounded Thursday. If there were any more today, they were not reported.

In Cairo, the Egyptian military command said its planes made massive attacks on the island early today and fierce fighting was raging. A spokesman said the Israelis were sending reinforcements by air and sea, and the Egyptian defenders were holding the attackers off "courageously and valiantly."

The spokesman said Egyptian forces on the island reported at least 50 killed or wounded on each side.

The raid was part of a continuing Israeli campaign against radar installations that give warning of Israeli planes approaching the southern Egyptian coast. Repeated Israeli raids there have demonstrated that much of the warning network has been knocked out.

A spokesman said the Israelis would remain "perhaps a few days" on the 12-square-mile coral reef midway between Egypt's African coast and the southern tip of the Israeli-held Sinai Peninsula. The purpose of the raid was to knock out the radar station guarding an approach to two Egyptian naval stations on the coast and to deal the Egyptians another humiliation.

The radar proved to be a British Decca model instead of Soviet equipment like he Israelis lifted from another Egyptian station last month and transported to Israel.

This is not a particularly impressive radar apparatus," said Lt. Gen. Haim Bar Lev, Israel's chief of staff. "But when we get the screws loose, we will probably take it back to Israel."

An American spokesman with the expedition reported the Egyptian forces put up stiff resistance, but the Israelis won control of the island in four hours.

was the third U.S. helicopter shot down over the valley in two weeks.

The losses raised to 6,339 the number of U.S. aircraft reported lost in Vietnam.

The U.S. Command reported 27 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. today. It said one American was killed and 11 wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported that North Vietnamese gunners pumped more than 100 rounds of rockets and mortars into a government patrol base near the Cambodian border. Field reports said that despite the heavy barrage, only two soldiers were wounded.

2 Helicopters Lost in Delta Fight

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Allied headquarters today reported small skirmishes from the Mekong Delta to the Cambodian border north of Saigon and said two U.S. helicopters were shot down and 71 North Vietnamese or Viet Cong soldiers were killed.

One American was killed and 12 were wounded in the ground fighting. All of the casualties were in the 1st Infantry Division, which is leaving Vietnam by April 15 after 4½ years of the war. It was the first Army division sent to Vietnam.

Three South Vietnamese were reported killed in the ground fighting and 11 wounded.

One of the American helicopters was shot down while supporting 1st Division troops in fighting 10 miles from the Cambodian border. One man aboard was wounded.

The second helicopter was shot down over the A Shau Valley while checking North Vietnamese infiltration from Laos. Two crewmen were wounded. It awkward position he dropped to the floor and started looking too. As others passed by they joined the search party.

In five minutes the entire length of the corridor was wall to wall with crawling humanity, heads bowed and hands extended as though they were participating in some obscure religious ceremony.

From office boys to executives, the crouched forms were all swaying gently and shuffling slowly down the hall, heads turning rhythmically from side to side.

While they were thus occupied I was also looking, but confining my scrutiny to a smaller territory—my eye. Eventually we all gave up and I went home, took one last look with a magnifying mirror under a bright light and went unconsciously to bed.

The next morning, gazing woefully in a mirror at my bare orb, I spotted the precious disc, tucked far into the corner of my eye where it had been hiding out all night.

It's nice to have perfect vision again, but a bit embarrassing too. I hated to tell all those concerned people who had been cleaning the floor with neatly creased pants or springing a run in a new pair of nylons that what they had been looking for was safe behind my eyelid all that time.

Senate leaders of both parties said they doubted the speech would affect his chances for confirmation by the Senate, although some Judiciary Committee members said he will be questioned about it at hearings starting next Tuesday.

Following Mitchell's briefing, Scott said he intends to support Carswell's nomination. But Griffin was more guarded. Without saying how he would vote, Griffin said "the reports thus far have been very favorable, and I hope the Senate will be able to confirm the nomination without delay."

A spokesman for Mrs. Smith said she has taken no position and probably will not until after the Judiciary Committee makes its report to the Senate.

One of the chief arguments used against Haynsworth was testimony at committee hearings about his secret dealings while on the bench—testimony that opponents contended indicated at least an appearance of impropriety.

Haynsworth was also up against powerful opposition from civil rights and labor leaders. Civil rights forces also are objecting to Carswell's nomination, but so far labor leaders haven't spoken out against him.

One Republican senator who voted against Haynsworth but who has said he will support Carswell's nomination is Scott's Pennsylvania colleague, Richard S. Schweiker.

An aide said Schweiker's position has not been changed by the disclosure of Carswell's 1948 speech. The aide said Schweiker had noted Carswell vigorously renounced the statement when it was brought to light.

Sen. John J. Williams of Delaware, whose vote against Haynsworth was regarded as carrying weight with his colleagues, said as far as he knows now, he will support Carswell's nomination.

Plans had been made to act swiftly on the nomination to bring the court back to full strength. The current vacancy was created last May 15 when Abe Fortas resigned after disclosures he had received, but later returned, a fee for some work for the family foundation of a financier who was sent to prison.

Here's a Summary of Nixon's State of the Union Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here's President Nixon's State of the Union address at a glance:

America's first priority must always be peace for America and the world.

America shall be faithful to its treaty commitments but "we shall reduce our involvement and our presence in other nations' affairs."

"As we enter the 70s, we should enter also a great age of reform of the institutions of American government," including total reform of the welfare system, reverse the flow of power from Washington "back to the states and to the people."

The federal budget must be balanced "so that American families will have a better chance to balance their family budgets." The budget to be presented for fiscal 1971 will be a balanced budget.

No action beneficial to the people is more important "than for the Congress to join this administration in the battle to stop the rise in the cost of living."

The only area where he has ordered an increase rather than a cut in budget proposals is for agencies responsible for law enforcement. Federal spending for aiding local law enforcement will be double that for the current fiscal year that ends June 30.

To clean up the nation's air, water and open spaces he will propose to Congress "the most comprehensive and costly program" in this field in the nation's history, including $10 billion "to make our waters clean again, and to do it now."

"The federal government must be in the position to assist in the building of new cities and the rebuilding of old ones."

We must create a new rural environment that will not only stem the migration to urban centers but reverse it."

Stinnett to Head County Judges Ass'n.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas County Judges Association elected Ouachita County Judge Alfred Stinnett as its president Thursday.

Other officers elected at the association's annual meeting were Chicot County Judge James R. Burchfield as vice president and Lafayette County Judge J. Martin Tackett as secretary-treasurer.

The association adopted a resolution urging the legislature to approve next year a percentage formula for state general revenue funds turned back to counties.

It also asked the legislature to enact laws providing "realistic" easement of county road right-of-way for road use only.

In a policy resolution, the association said that all county federal aid funds not used by the counties be transferred to the state Highway Commission for improvement of the state's secondary roads.

United States is making progress toward a just settlement.

"The prospects for peace are far greater today than they were a year ago," he said.

The President said Congress shares the credit because it has overwhelmingly supported the effort for such peace.

"By this action," Nixon said, "you have completely demolished the enemy's hopes that they can gain in Washington the victory our fighting men deny it in Vietnam."

Nixon did not list the dozen major messages he said he would be sending Congress. But he mentioned these proposals:

— A new system of financing for the purchase of open space and parklands "now, before they are lost to us."

— Development of a national growth policy to balance the nation's population, and to shape decisions on where to build highways, airports, even cities.

— Reforms "which will expand the range of opportunities for all Americans... Equal voting rights, equal employment opportunity and new opportunities for expanded ownership."

Nixon did not mention his dispute with Congress over the outlay for health and education during the current year.

Congress has approved $1.26 billion more than Nixon wants spent. The President has threatened to veto a pending appropriations bill because of it.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said if Nixon really wants the bipartisan support he sought in the address, he should prove it by signing the bill.

Nixon said in his speech that more than 40 of his legislative proposals "still await enactment" in Congress.

The President will send a detailed foreign policy message to Congress later, probably early in February.

He also will have a statement on the possible withdrawal of more American troops from Vietnam sometime in April.

Nixon's address Wednesday was interrupted by applause 26 times. He delivered it in a matter-of-fact manner, with a minimum of gestures and a constant gaze at the television camera in the House aisle before him.

The applause, predictably, came most frequently from the left side of the chamber, packed with Republicans.

Mrs. Nixon, in blue, was in the gallery. "I thought it was great," she said of her husband's performance.

Hardin Is Denied Right to Secede

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A federal court order issued Thursday denied the Hardin area of the Dollarway School District to withdraw from the district, although the secession was approved by voters last September.

The vote in September came after complete desegregation was ordered in the district, which has a heavy Negro population. The Hardin area is predominantly white.

U.S. District Court Judge J. Smith Henley made the ruling, which established a permanent injunction against secession unless the "existing circumstances" change.

Henley is the judge who handed down the order for desegregation of the Dollarway district.

His ruling Thursday came in a suit filed by several Negro patrons of the Dollarway district, who argued that the planned secession was an effort to thwart the desegregation order.

The Hardin area existed as a separate school district until 1964, when it was consolidated with Dollarway.

Henley also enjoined school patrons in the Hardin area from attempting to re-establish the old Hardin district.

However, he added, "When the integration problem at Dollarway has been settled finally, when this litigation is at rest, if that day ever comes, it may turn out that there is no federal objection to the area's withdrawing from the district and going its way in peace."

The Hardin area residents "do not want to move out of the district, they want to move the district and its problems away from themselves," he said.

The judge said he didn't think they could be permitted "to avoid the supposed benefits or escape the supposed burdens of the Dollarway litigation so easy."

BABER-YOUNG SENIOR CITIZENS

The Baber-Young-Williams Club of Seniors Citizens met at 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, January 14, in the Community Center at 720 Texas Street.

Mrs. N.J. Burns, President, called the meeting to order. The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Ollie Martin.

Following the devotional taken from the 13th Chapter of Romans, Verses 10 through 14, Mrs. N.J. Burns introduced Mrs. Lonnie Crow and Mrs. Charles E. Stone, of the Gardenia Garden Club, who presented the club with two bird feeders and gave a discussion on the feeding of birds.

The following members were elected to office and committees for the year: Mrs. Stella Yates, Vice President; Mrs. Edith Powell, Assistant Secretary-Treasurer; and Mrs. Floyd Brandon, Food Committee.

The door prize was won by Mrs. Floyd Brandon and names were drawn for secret pals. The next meeting will be a luncheon meeting at 11:30 a.m., January 28, in the Douglas Building.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Stella Yates dismissed the group with prayer.

DORCAS CLASS MEETS

On January 8, the Dorcas Sunday school class of the Garrett Memorial Baptist church met in the home of Mrs. Vance Mareum.

Mrs. Jack Coffey, president presided over the business meeting and welcomed the guests. Mrs. Pod Rogers and Mrs. Olin Purcell, Mrs. Rogers brought a timely devotion, "Let us resolve to have a better, Miller Christian Life in 1970".

After the prayer was voiced refreshments of coffee and a dessert plate were served by the hostess.

Coming, Going

Phil Huntley of Malvern, the oldest living Razorback (1907-11), was an unexpected guest at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday night. He was a friend of the speaker and wanted to hear Dr. Trice.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Peck, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jones and Judge Alex Sanderson, all of Texarkana.

Miss Sadie May, who retired a few years ago after many years of work at local hospitals and moved to Texarkana, has now returned to Hope.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The last two of ABC's five midseason re-placements had their premiere programs Thursday night. Neither seems likely to light up the nation's small screens.

George Hamilton, the sole survivor of "The Survivors," is now Jack Brennan, an intense young trouble shooter helping tourists as he works out of the American embassy in "Paris 7000."

His first assignment was to protect the reputation of a newly appointed Supreme Court justice on his first visit to France since 1943. Upon arrival with his wife, the jurist was slipped a note by an evil looking creature. It threatened to reveal to the world the existence of an illegitimate daughter, born during the war, if he did not hand over 500,000 francs.

Energetic and dead pan Brennan scurried around, tracking members of the French Resistance, visiting the police and frequenting colorful Left Bank dives. He occasionally said "out!" or "in!" to add to the color which is quite obviously Hollywood backlot Paris. Even the window of Jack's office in the embassy looks out on the Eiffel Tower, a neat geographic trick.

It was a story that was as artificial and contrived as the background and, worst of all, was a bore.

"Pat Paulsen's Half a Comedy Hour" did not add up to even a tenth of a comedy hour. There were not, in fact, many chuckles in the 30 minutes.

The comedian seemed extremely uncomfortable working through a collection of poorly constructed skills, but not as uncomfortable as some of his guests.

Hubert H. Humphrey, for instance, seemed at a loss in one. We were asked to believe that Paulsen's car stalled in the dead of winter in front of the Humphrey's Minnesota home and Paulsen, who was in light summer clothes, sought help.

The humor, apparently, was the sight of Paulsen shivering because the former vice president kept his visitor outside and even closed the door in his face a couple of times.

Debbie Reynolds appeared in a sketch with Paulsen playing the warden of a prison. Debbie was a tough lady lifer who poured hot coffee on the warden, smashed his glasses and even buried his pet parakeet out the window.

Paulsen's closing was a mock tearful plea to the "Nelson folk" to watch the show another time. Maybe Pat better run for public office again.

Danny Thomas has signed with ABC to return next season in another situation comedy. It will be called "Make Room for Granddaddy," and if his special of the same name last fall is a clue, it will pick up the "Make Room for Daddy" characters as they have grown older, with the kids starting families of their own.

THE MEANEST PICKPOCKET

Dear Helen: On December 20th, our family lost its Christmas.

I'd saved all year and finally got together $100 which was to buy presents for all of them. It was a crowded Saturday, the only time I had to shop. I work 10 hours a day to make ends meet.

My little daughter and I sat down to eat lunch, and when I looked for my wallet, it had disappeared. I had all kinds of identification in it, but to date no one has even sent back my driver's license. We ate canned spaghetti for Christmas dinner because I had it on hand—that $100 was also for groceries!

My children understood, but it didn't make things any easier, when my girl was looking forward to a warm coat and the boy to his first bicycle.

This is a plea to people who find "windfalls": Think how YOU would feel if you lost something precious and nobody returned it. Why is it that folks who wouldn't think of stealing will consider a lost article their own? — NO CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR

Dear NCTY: Because such people are "chicken" thieves. While they won't risk stealing, they're just as dishonest as the next larcenist. Pity!—H.

Dear Helen: I clipped this out of our local paper and think it's worth reprinting. It ties in with your "nobody cares" if the train runs on time" comment.

"To the Editor: Sir, The other morning I looked out the window and wow!—There was my neighbor on his way to work. His wife and two tots were standing by his side.

He did not smash his wife with an ax and hammer his two children into the ground. Instead, he patted the kids lovingly on the head, kissed his wife, then went down the walk smiling and waving goodbye.

I thought this good news should be reported to the reading and viewing public in order to balance things." — B.W.W.

Dear Helen: Our son, I always thought, was a good boy and not one to have impure thoughts. Yet I found the enclosed poem in one of his school books. I'm very embarrassed talking to him about such things. Maybe you could set him straight. — SHOCKED MOTHER OF 16-YEAR-OLD BOY

Dear Mother: There's scarcely anything to "set straight",

Twweed: A Rich Knit Touch

By JUDY LOVE

To give credit where it's due, needleworkers owe Scotland a nod. The Scotch invented tweeds—which, after all, have survived beautifully while other fashion trends have come and gone.

In knitting, tweed effects are a way of combining colors and texture that no other pattern can produce. These two really wearables show richness in a knitted and a crocheted design.

The sweater is knitted in two colors of Coats and Clark's Red Heart Wintuck Sock and Sweater yarn. Simple stitching takes on a rich, texture look, thanks to the knit-in tweed. A deep, button-down neck opening, broad collar and wide, roll-back cuffs are fresh and outgoing for the right sporty look.

The beret, a classic face-flatterer, also takes its tweed look from a two-color mix, crocheted in a fingering yarn. Even if you're a novice at crocheting, you'll find this easy and fun—with no sizing worries. One size fits all.

For a copy of instructions for knitting the sweater in sizes 10-16 and crocheting the one-size beret, send 50 cents to Stitches 'n Time, c/o your local newspaper, Radio City Station, P.O. Box 503, New York City, N.Y. Ask for leaflet S185 and include your name, address and zip code.

Knit Knacks

DEAR JUDY: I have a tip for knitters that you might like to share with your read-

A rich touch of tweed is knitted into a sporty two-color pullover for skirts or slacks. For the beret, mix colors in a crocheted tweed look. Instructions for needleworkers are available.

ers. My wardrobe includes a number of bulky sweaters, including Irish patterns, which I especially like. However, they always seem to take forever to dry after laundering.

I've found that squeezing water out of a sweater is less effective than my discovery. I now place hand-laundered sweaters in the washing machine, which I set at the last spin cycle. This removes much more water quite safely and the sweater will dry very quickly and not lose its shape.—M. T.

Pollution Is Prize Issue in Elections

By STAN BENJAMIN

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — Although President Nixon says the fight against pollution goes beyond politics, a key administration official says the party that writes the best environment record "is going to be the party that wins the most elections."

Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel pointed out the growing political importance of environment Thursday after the President made protection and improvement of the nation's natural resources a major thrust of his State of the Union message.

Nixon, saying that "restoring nature to its natural state is a cause beyond party and beyond factions," asked Congress for a $10 billion, five-year program to fight water pollution, and he called for establishment of a National Growth Policy.

Hickel isn't the only politician to see the potential campaign value of advocating environ-

Plan Three ment clean-up, Rep. Charles E. Wicks of Idaho introduced a pollution control bill Wednesday, promising to pass it before a year, setting the issue of his top legislative priority.

Last month in Boston, Hickel charged the Nixon administration with displaying "a penchant for more form than substance in this area." And Jan. 16, he accused the administration of being "slogarithmic and action-poor" on environmental quality, a charge repeated by many Democrats after Nixon's State of the Union speech.

They pointed to the $800 million already appropriated by Congress for water pollution control during the current fiscal year—a sum Nixon has refused to spend as part of his fight against inflation.

But now Nixon has asked Congress to provide $10 billion over five years for this purpose, in effect seeking almost 10 times as much yearly as he was willing to request for fiscal 1970.

The entire Interior Department budget, by comparison, runs to about $1.5 billion a year.

In addition, Nixon said he would propose "innovative financing methods" for purchasing needed park and recreation land. Nixon did not spell it out, but Hickel has been urging a $6.3 billion, five-year land acquisition program to be financed over 30 years.

In political competition for the environment issue, Hickel said last November, "We all stand to win, because in the process of one-upmanship, everybody in the federal government has become environment conscious."

Thursday, after stating the party with the best environment record would win the most elections, Hickel added:

"With the leadership shown by President Nixon's administration during just one year in office, we (the Republicans) are on our way toward being that party."

Get The Light From GODS LIGHTHOUSE GUIDE YOU TO HIS CHURCH

"LET ME PRAY"

in simple words that are full of meaning. Let me say The Lord's Prayer every day with a fearless and grateful heart.
With a sense of Divine concern for daddy, and mummy, and sister, and all our friends — let me ask that thine ear be open and that you will hear me, Father. Thou hast commanded me to come as a little child; to be humble as a little child; to have faith as a little child. Here I am, so please bless me and make me one of thine own. Bless our pastor, and our church and help us to grow in the grace and knowledge of God.
With firm faith that sees beyond the failures of men — Father, you have let me pray."

George Gooden gives an excellent analysis of why South should open with four hearts. He starts with 13-point count. South has eight high-card and five distribution points for a total of 13.
He does not open with one of a suit because he only has eight points in high cards.
On the other hand South has eight probable tricks with hearts as trumps. Seven are in the trump suit. The king of clubs is worth another half-trick as is the fourth club.
To put it another way,
South is not going to be hurt at four hearts and the four-heart bid might well shut his opponents out of their game in some other suit or in no-trump. This is actually the case. In spite of North holding four spades to the ace-king, East and West can make four-odd in spades.
West doubles the four-heart opening. East considering taking out to four spades but feels certain that he can beat four hearts. Who can really blame him?
West opens the king of diamonds. If he could look at the South hand he would shift to a club in spite of the fact that his partner signaled come-on with the 10.
Again - who can blame him?
South ruffs the second diamond. His problem is how to get to dummy so as to cash those two high spades. The jack of hearts is a possible entry. He can play the king

Hornets Nip Hope Kitty Cats, 40-32

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Grabbing repeated turnovers with a vicious defense, the Camden Harmony Grove Hornets defeated the Hope Kitty Cats 40-32 last night in the semi-finals of the Camden Invitational Tournament at Camden.

That placed Yarger at 5-4 before two dimes went with Miscal Springs. At home on Tuesday and on the road Thursday night.

Forward Janet McCain hit an easy layup after six seconds to put Hope ahead 2-0, but it was the only time all night that Harmony Grove was not the leader. Yarger went cold, losing eight turnovers in the first quarter alone. The Hornets knew what to do then, and the resultant ball control tactics sent Harmony Grove to an easy 10-4 margin at the period's end.

It got worse, as in two more minutes the Hornets had built up a 16-6 runaway. There, the momentum shifted, as Bonnie Willis entered the action to help McCain in sparking a Kitty Cat comeback effort.

After Willis nailed three free shots it was cut to 16-11, but two outside baskets sent Harmony Grove back into command 20-11 with 1:46 left before the half.

There the Hornets stalled for the remainder, and got into a little foul trouble with the Yarger girls. McCain scored five straight points and Willis hit a final charity shot to leave Harmony Grove ahead 20-17 at intermission.

When they started again, McCain quickly drove through for an easy two points, cutting the deficit to one at 20-19 and putting Hope on the verge of taking over. Then something went wrong. Suddenly, three fouls and four turnovers later, the Hornets had it 29-20 and the Kitty Cats were low.

It was 33-22 entering the final segment, but several outside field goals kept Harmony Grove ahead by at least ten points until the end.

Hall of Fame Inductees to Be Honored

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — This year's four Arkansas Hall of Fame inductees will be honored tonight at the hall's annual banquet in Little Rock.

The banquet will induct Mel McGaha, Fred Thomsen, Duke Wells and George Harper. They bring the number of inductees to 52.

Pat Buttram, who has performed in movies, radio and television, is master of ceremonies for the event.

McGaha was a three-sport letterman in the Southwest Conference and now is a coach of the Houston Astros baseball team.

Thomsen was the first University of Arkansas coach to win a SWC football championship.

Wells starred in football at Henderson State College and later became its head football coach.

Harper had a lifetime batting average of .303 in a major league baseball career that included a stint with the old New York Giants.

Astros manager Harry Walker will present McGaha, Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt will present Thomsen, Harper will be presented by his former teammate on the Giants, Travis Jackson

Senior Girls Clobbered by Gurdon

By BILL MOORE
Last night the Hope Ladycats were outscored by a large margin, 61-35, in the Gurdon tournament.

Bad passes and fouls plagued the Hope girls who dropped their seventh game against six victors.

Gurdon jumped off to a 3-0 lead, before Dee Singleton hit the first basket for the Ladycats, with 5:00 left in the first quarter.

Seconds later Singleton pulled Hope to within one point, 5-4, with 4:07 left, but the Gurdon broke for seven points while allowing only Betty Rodden two charity shots, as the quarter ended with Hope trailing, 12-6.

In the second segment of play, the Ladycats only managed eight points, Singleton hit five points and Rodden sunk three free shots. The half ended with Gurdon leading, 24-14, in an actually close race.

Gurdon came out fired up in the second half, and quickly hit six baskets and a pair of free throws for a 38-14 margin, before Rodden hit two free throws with 4:10 left.

The Go-Devs made it 40-16 on a layup by Kay Covington, but with 2:13 left in the quarter, Singleton started a twelve point spread with two baskets and one free throw.

Rodden then hit five points and Mary Beth Millican hit her first basket to pull within twelve, 40-28, at the opening of the last period.

Gurdon hit three and then Rodden hit a free throw and seconds later Singleton got two before the roof caved in. The Go-Devs hit sixteen straight points for a 59-31 cushion with 0:55 left on the clock.

Singleton and Louise Kramer hit baskets and Millican hit the final point with 0:03 showing.

The Ladycats had a bad night, unable to control the ball smoothly and unable to stop Gurdon's offense.

Seeing defensive action were Sharon East, Cindy Hollis, Sharon Brown, Janice Hobson, Jennifer Rhodes, Rita Taylor, and Renee Quillen.

Crosby Golf Tournament Draws Crowd

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — At 7:15 in the morning Thursday, with a surprising number of middle Americans who had risen before dawn to watch the event looking on, comedian Bob Newhart hit a golf ball toward the Pacific Ocean.

For the next several hours, as the gallery grew larger, the Crosby Golf Tournament's usual group of show business and sports celebrities paraded to the first tee at Cypress Point golf course.

Not all the amateur golfers in the event possess readily familiar names, which accounted for the fact that the smaller galleries at the Spyglass Hill and Pebble Beach courses were made up of golf fans rather than those out looking for television and movie stars.

There were, in fact, fewer such stars than have appeared in past Crosbys. After Newhart, prepared for cold weather that didn't materialize with a blue skating cap and two thick sweaters, made his way down the first fairway, actor Forrest Tucker appeared with his pro partner, Charlie Sifford.

"You going to talk to me today, Charlie," boomed Tucker to the gallery.

"I don't talk to my wife this early in the morning," Sifford answered and, chewing a cigar at the side of his mouth, he boomed a long tee shot down range.

Things proceeded in this fashion and if the humor that developed was not exactly academy award material, at least it amused the crowd.

Clint Eastwood came and went and then it was singer Glen Campbell's turn and time for an impromptu appearance by the star of the show.

Pilots Are No Longer At Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Deadlines by the dozen dance by, rumors roll about, and threats of lawsuits trumpet the start of a white paper war, but the Seattle Pilots are still in Seattle.

For the moment, But that moment won't last much longer, William R. Daley, majority stockholder of the American League expansion club said Thursday. The club "is no longer rooted in Seattle," he declared.

Daley, former president of the Cleveland Indians, made the statement Thursday when a group headed by Seattle businessman Fred Danz couldn't meet a 3 p.m. deadline to re-finance a $2.2 million loan made by the Bank of California to Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., the Pilots' corporate body.

Now the franchise "is up for grabs," Daley said in his home town of Cleveland. The two cities doing the grabbings are Dallas and Milwaukee.

Lamar Hunt, owner of the pro football champion Kansas City Chiefs, and Texas magnate Tommy Mercer formally applied for the franchise. They issued a statement when the deadline passed saying, "We have submitted an application to the (American) league for the transfer of the Seattle franchise to the Dallas-Fort Worth area. It is our understanding that a league meeting has been called for Jan. 27 in Oakland, Calif., and it is our plan to present our facts to the league members at that meeting."

During the day a story appeared in a Houston newspaper saying the 11 other American League owners had held an informal telephone poll and settled on Dallas. On the other hand, a Chicago newspaper said a deal already had been made for the Pilots to go to a Milwaukee group headed by "Bud" Selig for $11 million.

Daley denied that there had been any decision on where the Pilots were going, only that they were going somewhere. He said the telephone calls were to set up the meeting in Oakland.

In Boston, meanwhile, American League President Joe Cronin said he hadn't received any letter from Hunt, but would comment no further on Thursday's developments.

"The American League has no other choice but to move the franchise. How can a transfer be avoided?" Daley asked. "The league has given Seattle every chance, but the city has not been able to raise the money. So there is no other choice."

Danz, meanwhile, said Cronin assured him that no action would be taken until Tuesday's meeting. However Danz' group has been unable to raise the money to pay the loan since the problem arose shortly after the league had approved the original sale agreement for a reported $10.5 million in December. Prospects that any Seattle group would come up with the money to buy the club by Tuesday appeared absolutely minimal.

If Seattle seemed doomed to lose the franchise on the financial front, it certainly appeared willing to fight for it in the courts. Seattle Mayor Wes Uhlman said Thursday he has signed legal complaints and the city is ready to move into court if the league attempts to move the club.

He said that in addition to three different complaints he had "additional action" which he could not disclose. The three complaints against either the league or the club ownership, or both, could be:

—action for breach of lease agreement.

—action for actual damages of around $3 million spent by the city on Sicks' Stadium, the Pilots' interim ballpark.

—action for 11½ damages under antitrust laws.

"That's not going to help them," Daley said about the possible suits.

But Daley stressed that neither he nor the league wanted the Pilots to leave Seattle.

"The league," he said, "has given the city every opportunity to come forward and solve the financial crisis. But the business community of Seattle, including their banks, were not able to do

Murphy Puts On Exhibition in Basketball

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pay attention now, class, Calvin Murphy is giving a clinic on basketball.

Watch the ball go to his team-mates. Watch it go through the basket. Hear the crowd roar.

Murphy first gave a pre-game passing show that drove the crowd wild, then put on his usual scoring exhibition as Niagara taught St. Francis, N.Y., a lesson, 111-89, in college basketball Thursday night.

The All-American dynamo, who scored 38 points, says he likes to give the passing show before the Purple Eagles' games because "I think the fans like to see it."

Murphy stood in the key and peeled off a bunch of rapid-fire passes to his teammates, who were cutting in toward the basket from either side of him.

The on-target handouts ricocheted off his elbows, arms and feet in an exhibition ala Harlem Globetrotters. His mates then glided in for easy layups.

None of the ranked teams was in action in a Thursday night schedule diminished by the annual mid-term lull.

Elsewhere, Florida State clubbed Clemson 122-80; Tulsa tripped Southern Illinois 66-65; Hardin-Simmons cut down Centenary 86-76; Iowa State stopped Northern Illinois 97-90; Connecticut vanquished Vermont 85-79 and Colorado State bounced Utah State 80-66.

Murphy, the nation's sixth leading scorer with a 31.5 average, was happier about his teammates' performance than his own in the contest in New York.

"I felt very good that this was a team effort because (Marshall) Wingate and (Mike) Samuel did so well," said the modest, 5-foot-10 Murphy.

Wingate scored 33 points and Samuel had 17, powering Niagara to a 54-41 halftime lead. Murphy then put the game out of reach by scoring 24 of his points in the second half.

A scoring battle between Murphy and John Conforti of St. Francis, the nation's 13th scorer with a 27.6 average, never developed. Conforti had a sub-par for the Washington Caps.

16 points.

Florida State hit a season-high point total as the Seminoles squashed Atlantic Coast Conference rival Clemson in their battle at Tallahassee.

Dave Covens rifled in 29 points and picked off 29 rebounds—both personal marks for the Florida State standout this season. Butch Zatezale led the losing Tigers with 27 points.

Two free throws by Granville Bunton with 25 seconds left in the game lifted Tulsa over Southern Illinois. Ron Carson had 24 points for the winners and L. C. Brasfield put in 20 for the losers.

Bill Cain scored 20 points and grabbed 19 rebounds for Iowa State and sophomore Jerry Ziehlinski had 32 points for Northern Illinois.

Bobcats to Entertain Malvern

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

In a pivotal 4-AA West battle, the Malvern Leopards invade Jones Field House tonight to match the Hope Bobcats, preceded by a junior boys game at 6:30 p.m.

And Fairview will be coming here tomorrow night needing a big victory too, all of this which places Hope in the best position possible: that of the capable underdog.

Malvern is tough at 13-2 for the season, but Coach Carroll Denton's forces will be almost even in height with Hope.

Leopard postman Royce Bailey is a powerhouse at 6-6 and about 225-235 pounds, and there is also 6-5 returnee Freddie Jones, a slender, but tough rebounder.

They will do battle with Bobcats John Dudley and Larry Muldrew of the same height for supremacy underneath, with much of the game's verdict in the balance right there.

Malvern will not rely strongly on outside shooting, but the men on the wings will be 6-2 Jimmy Stevens, 5-11 Xavier Jones, and 6-0 Steve Efrid.

There are others too, as Denton has depth like Malvern fans haven't seen in some time.

Hope must get a good game going outside the Leopard zone defense with the shooting of guards Parker Powell, Ronnie Massanelli, and David Briggs.

Add 6-1 forward Tim White, a soph who is learning the baseline shot very well under Coach John Ross.

For the year the Cats are 9-6 so this weekend against Malvern and Fairview has very much at stake. And the Bobcats would have a nicer time next week by starting an upset trail now.

Thursday Night Tax Meeting at Hope High

Rather regularly we come in contact with people, usually folks who have lived a long while, who profess to be bored or disgusted with what they discover in modern fiction. It so happens that we agree with such complainants as a rule, but we are also a firm believer in the old Latin tag that asserts there is no successful or useful way of disputing about tastes.

What we may suggest, however, is that there is no law against going back to reread books that have pleased you in the past. "Pickwick Papers," for example, is always on our reading table and we find these words from Mr. Dickens a recurrent joy. There are any number of others, of course. If you choose to say the books have not changed since you read them last, all right. But the calculated guess is that you are not the same person in terms of experience and comprehension. In any event, a trial of this idea is inexpensive and may be abandoned at any instant. You might find it a partial cure for what ails you.

He-Man Stuff

A note in the news about necklaces for men moved a telephone caller-in to muse out loud, and nostalgically.

"There really isn't anything new about boys wearing frilly raiment and accessories that are generally associated with girls," the nostalgic one said. "Doesn't anybody remember when little boys wore Little Lord Fauntleroy velvet suits and patent leather slippers with straps across the instep?"

Sure, and when Mama cried the day she was finally compelled to take Junior to the barber shop to have his shoulder-length curls whacked off. . . And now, following the shorning, Papa threw out his chest, lit up a fresh cigar and got himself a new hand-hold on life because now he could start calling Junior "Butch."

What's happening to Papa's manly pride, now that Junior's maybe about to string a lapis lazuli pendant around his neck, is, as they say, something else.

Assessing the Congress in a year-end report, minority leader Sen. Hugh Scott said, "Clearly the temper of this age of Aquarius calls for less bureaucratic ontoplatoskapsis."

Weather Satellite Is Put Up

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An advanced weather-watching satellite designed to televise day and night pictures of the world's cloud cover shot aloft today from the space agency's western range.

The box-shaped, 682-pound Tiros M satellite vehicle was aimed at a 200-mile-high, near-polar orbit to enable it to view every portion of the earth in daylight at least once every 24 hours.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said the PCA-built vehicle carried four television cameras, two infrared scanners for nighttime pictures, a position indicator to record sun flashes and a radio to measure the heat the earth absorbs and radiates back into the atmosphere.

Third Bid Entered on Ambulances

With two previous offers to set up a public ambulance service on record here a third bid was filed at city hall Thursday night with the Joint City-County committee handling negotiations for city and county governments.

The new bidder was Hempstead County Ambulance Service, Inc., stockholders being listed as James Voss, Larry Moses, and Perry Campbell.

Mr. Campbell said a report was being circulated that he made the bid personally, but actually the proposal comes from a corporation in which he holds an interest.

An emergency has been created here by the announcement that both Herndon and Oakcrest mortuaries are discontinuing ambulance service due to new regulations and higher operating costs, causing the city and county governments to set up joint committee to ask for proposals from others to operate a public ambulance service.

Mills Hits Imports of Textiles

NEW YORK, AP — Rep. William D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has called existing textile-import regulations "obviously not adequate."

In a speech to the American Textile Manufacturers Institute annual dinner Thursday, Mills said there was a lack of concern about the increasing volume of textile imports to the United States.

Nixon Speech Charms Even the Democrats, Report From Capital

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has summoned a Democratic Congress and a watching nation to join in an effort to "make our peace with nature," intensify the struggle against crime and stick with him in dealing with the Vietnam war.

The President presented those priorities Thursday in his first State of the Union message, a 36-minute speech abridged from what was once a two-hour, 10-minute draft.

Charting goals but few specific programs, the Republican President encountered a generally mild, and frequently favorable, Democratic reaction. GOP leaders turned the speech a masterpiece.

Senate Democrats called a caucus today to discuss a response from the congressional majority. It is likely to be a televised outline of the Democratic view, said Feb. 8.

Nixon told the joint session he will send at least a dozen major new proposals to Capitol Hill during the current, election-year session.

He did not list the specifics. But Hugh Scott, the Republican Senate leader, said a Nixon program to combat water pollution will top the list.

That one is likely to reach Congress within two or three weeks, Nixon said it will be a five-year, $19-billion program to build all the municipal waste treatment plants needed in the nation.

The President called it the most comprehensive and costly pollution control program in American history.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine said the commitment was reassuring — but the leading Democratic spokesman on environmental

GOP Senate Ranks Silent on Carswell

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Republican senators who helped defeat President Nixon's first choice of a southern judge for the Supreme Court are not committing themselves on his latest nomination.

With a few exceptions, they said they will await Senate Judiciary Committee hearings before making up their minds on the nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

Seventeen of the 43 Republican senators voted in November against confirmation of the Supreme Court nominations of Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., a South Carolinian who is chief judge of the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

It was the 17 GOP defections, combined with 38 votes from the Democratic side, that rejected Haynsworth 55-45.

The 17 included Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, his deputy, Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, and the chairman of the Senate Republican Conference, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine.

Carswell, a member of the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, was nominated by Nixon Monday.

In an effort to clear the way for confirmation, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell briefed key GOP senators on Carswell's background in advance of the nomination announcement.

But apparently he didn't prepare them for the subsequent disclosure that Carswell, when campaigning for the Georgia legislature 22 years ago, said he would always be governed by "the firm, vigorous belief in principles of white supremacy."

After this was brought to light, Carswell said "I disavow and reject the words themselves and the thoughts they represent."

In Vietnam, Nixon said, the School Tax 10-Mill Hike Is Endorsed

Approximately 250 persons attended a meeting Thursday night in the Hope High School auditorium to discuss the financial problems of Hope School District 1-A.

Wayne Russell served as master of ceremonies and the invocation was given by Rev. Walter White.

Russell stated in his opening remarks that the purpose of the meeting was the need for an increase in millage and support of the local school board in their quest for a 50-mill tax. The present levy is 40 mills which stays in effect until July 1, 1971.

After stating that local-level financing is "just not adequate to maintain a proper educational program," Mr. Russell introduced George Frazier, president of the school board.

Mr. Frazier also cited the need for more millage and called for a collective program of action involving the school board, school administration, and the citizens of the district.

Supt. of Schools James H. Jones was introduced by Mr. Frazier. Mr. Jones explained the meaning of one mill and 10 mills and what the increased millage would mean to the average property owner. He stressed the need for a vocational expansion program, a competitive teacher salary schedule, more instructional materials for the teachers to work with, and acquisition of land around Yerger Junior High School.

With the aid of films, Mr. Jones showed a comparison of local financial support of the Hope District with the support given surrounding cities: Arkadelphia, DeQueen, Nashville, Texarkana and Camden now have a 50 mill tax. By comparison, Hope is a low-financed school locally. Although 31st in size in Arkansas for enrollment, Hope is in the upper 25 per cent in program.

Local finances now provide approximately $159 per pupil per year but if the millage increase program is passed, this figure would be raised to around $200 per pupil.

Discussing the average teacher salary schedule by comparison with other schools in this area, Mr. Jones pointed out that Hope was next to the bottom, rising only above Ashdown. The average teacher's salary in Arkansas is $6,280 as compared with Hope's $5,726 and Nashville's $6,519.

Hope schools have an average daily pupil attendance of 2,646. Nashville has 1,224, Prescott 1,381, and DeQueen 1,173. But these other cities provide local financing for pupils on the average of from $187 to $213. Hope teachers, with a bachelor's degree start at $5,200; teachers with a master's degree start at $5,500.

Following Mr. Jones' presentation, Mr. Russell called for nominations for a permanent chairman of the Citizens Committee. Dean Murphy nominated Wayne Russell and Royce Welzenberger nominated Al Graves, Jr.

Mr. Russell was elected. Nominated and elected for vice-chairman was Rev. Walter White.

Elected vice-chairwoman was Mrs. Lynn Harris; and Mrs. Bill Watson was elected secretary. A motion was made that the citizens at the meeting endorse the proposed 10-mill levy increase and it was adopted.

There were 128 passenger cancellations on the return trip, perhaps the greatest number ever compiled for a single airliner.

Dramatic Story of Girl's Search for Missing Contact Lens

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — If you want to know your real friends are, try losing a contact lens.

Then all the people who've been claiming they'd crawl on their knees for you will get a chance to prove it.

I made an inadvertent test case the other day when my plasticized 20-20 vision suddenly became 10-10. As I was walking down the hallway of my office with a friend she playfully tapped me on the side of my head. All at once the vision in one eye blurred and I realized the tiny disc that keeps my left eye in the seeing business wasn't where it should be.

While I dashed back to my

Mine Leader Slain on Eve of Probe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Union insurgent Joseph Yablonski, his wife and daughter were murdered shortly before he was to tell what he knew about United Mine Workers' activities to two grand juries, officials say.

Three Cleveland men today faced murder charges in connection with the deaths, in addition to federal charges, including conspiring to interfere with Yablonski's rights as a union member.

Yablonski, 50, had just lost a bitter election in an attempt to unseat UMW President W. A. "Tony" Boyle shortly before he, his wife, Margaret, 57, and daughter, Charlotte Joanne, 25, were found fatally shot in the family's Washington County, Pa., home Jan. 5.

Sources in Washington disclosed that Boyle, too, would have been a key witness at two federal grand jury probes into UMW affairs—one in Washington and the other in Pittsburgh.

Federal authorities said, however, that the three arrested had no known UMW connections.

Meanwhile, Pennsylvania authorities planned extradition proceedings on the murder charges today against Paul R. Gilly, 37, a house painter; Aubrey W. "Buddy" Martin, 23, a laborer; and Claude E. Vesley, 26, an unemployed parolee from the Ohio State Reformatory.

Col. Frank McKetta, head of the Pennsylvania State Police, said an Ohio license plate on a car led to the trio's arrest in Cleveland Wednesday night. He said Yablonski had seen the car near his home and reported the license number to the police about two weeks before the slayings.

"The motive is still under investigation," McKetta added. The FBI has refused to say how its investigation led to the three men, originally picked up on the federal charges.

First Run of Jumbo Jet Disappoints

NEW YORK (AP) — After a delay of nearly seven hours and cancellations by 128 impatient passengers, a Boeing 747 jumbo jetliner has returned from London, completing its maiden transatlantic commercial round trip.

The Pan American World Airways jet arrived Thursday with 150 of the 278 passengers booked for the flight. It had carried 332 on its eastward flight out of a 302-passenger capacity.

The flight originally was due back at Kennedy Airport at 12:25 p.m. Thursday, but after a series of delays, lost an additional hour on the westward Atlantic flight and arrived seven hours late.

There were 128 passenger cancellations on the return trip, perhaps the greatest number ever compiled for a single airliner.

Girl's Skirt Was Too Long

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Annetta Kopeczy, 11, was sent home from school Wednesday because her skirt was too long.

Annetta, a fifth-grade pupil at Graden Elementary in nearby Pasadena, wore a green-and-black plaid maxi skirt to school. Her mother, Mrs. Geniece Kopeczy, said her daughter wore the ankle-length skirt because of the 33-degree temperature.

She said Louis Koenig, principal of Graden Elementary, told her Annetta's dress was creating a disturbance among other students.

Defense to Await Grand Jury

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Nicholas Patton, defense lawyer in the Karen Vickers slaying hearing, waited Thursday for his clients to go before the grand jury, saying he preferred that to going directly to trial.

The preliminary hearing ended Wednesday behind closed doors.

U.S. Commissioner Ned Stewart ordered press and public from the courtroom when Miss Vickers, 15, said she was fondled by one of the five men charged in her Jan. 6 abduction. She testified, however, that she had not been raped. The rest of the proceedings went on in private.

Charged in the abduction are Lawrence Bryant, 21, who Miss Vickers identified as her molester; Joe W. Feggett, 28; and Booker T. Burkhalter, 24, all of Dallas; Hugh "Mule" Smith, 26, of Texarkana; and Johnnie Tashby, 21, of Lafayette County, Ark. All appeared at the hearing.

Bond was reduced for Smith from $25,000 to $20,000. The other bonds remained at $25,000. All are in Miller County, Ark., jail in lieu of bond.

The first time their case can come up is Feb. 2, when the next federal grand jury convenes in Little Rock.

Miss Vickers, daughter of a Texarkana, Ark., grocer, was kidnapped at gunpoint by three armed men who forced their way into her parents' home when her mother answered the front door.

Miss Vickers was held captive more than 26 hours before she was freed at a Texarkana, Tex., motel. The $40,000 ransom demanded for her release was never paid.

Forrest City Will Order Integration

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — The Forrest City School Board voted 3-2 Thursday night to comply with a federal court order that the school district officials submit a plan to utilize the district.

U.S. District Court Judge Oran Harris issued the order on Jan. 14 and gave the board 10 days in which to submit a plan to end the dual school system by next September.

Dr. Norman R. Saliba, a board member, made an impassioned plea against submitting a plan to the court, saying board members should be ready "to be held in contempt of court and, if necessary, go to jail for our beliefs."

About 400 persons turned out for the board meeting, which was broadcast live over a radio station and was to be replayed this afternoon.

Voting with Saliba against submitting a plan was board member James "Dutch" Meredith.

The three who voted to submit a plan were Dr. E. Morgan Collins, Webb Stewart and William McCall. The board president James DeRossitt, was absent because of illness.

Details of the plan were not made clear Thursday night, but Harris' order called for an end to separate school buses for white and Negro youngsters.

The board members also said some Negro teachers would be transferred from all-black schools to schools that now have a predominantly white enrollment.
